

Shadows
by Brit

Shadows of lives I've ended when justice bid me serve The lying tongues of serpents set free by empty words

Innocent blood left unavenged
A father snatched too young A love taken by madness never to bear my son

Tendril grasp of opiates my second self ensnared
The children of hell take hostage a sacrifice laid bare

Overwhelmed, the world engulfs me choking out breath and light Souls of the damned charade as the living no longer condemned to night

The holocaust we battle threatens to engulf my soul
But then, in a heartbeat, you speak my name... and once again, I'm whole

7/19/01